The screenshot shows a web-based document library interface. The top navigation bar includes 'Home', 'My Files', 'Sites', and 'Tasks'. The user 'Anke Stein' is logged in. The page title is 'MEACB, Meet European Advisory Committees on Biological Safety'. The main content area displays a list of documents under the path 'Documents > 02 Current topics > Placing on the market (GM food and feed) > Need for an obligatory 90-day rodent feeding study'. The first document is 'EFSA Explanatory statement for the applicability of the Guidance on conducting repeated-dose 90-day oral toxicity study in rodents .pdf'. A red arrow points to the 'More...' menu icon, which is open, showing options like 'Download', 'View In Browser', 'Edit Properties', 'Upload New Version', 'Edit Offline', 'Copy to...', 'Move to...', 'Delete Document', 'Create Shortcut', 'Start Workflow', and 'Manage Permissions'. A red circle highlights the 'Like 0' button for the first document. The bottom of the page shows pagination: '1 - 4 of 4 << 1 >>'.

The screenshot shows a web application interface for MEACB (Meet European Advisory Committees on Biological Safety) discussions. The top navigation bar includes links for Home, My Files, Sites, and Tasks, along with a user profile for Anke Stein and a search bar. The main header features the MEACB logo and title, a user profile icon, and a settings gear. A secondary navigation bar contains Site Dashboard, Document Library, Calendar, Discussions (highlighted with a red circle), and More. On the left, a sidebar menu lists Topics (New, Most Active, All, My Topics) and Tags. The main content area displays a 'New Topics' section with a 'New Topic' button (circled in red). Below this, a discussion titled 'obligatory 90- day rodent feeding study (Updated)' is shown, created on Thu 26 Sep 2019 15:09:46 by Anke Stein. The discussion text reads: 'Anke Stein said: Adinda, do you think, this kind of discussion could be useful?'. Action buttons for View, Edit, and Delete are visible on the right. At the bottom of the discussion, it shows 'Replies: (0)' and 'Tags: (None)'.

Summary

- Germany (BVL) can provide a restricted internet platform to exchange documents and views
- Collection of contact data
- Generation and editing of joint documents is possible
- Support by the ZKBS – office is possible

Thank you for your attention!
